TURBOPROP ENGINE MRO

TAE Aviation undertakes repair, Hot Section Inspection (HSI) and overhaul servicing for both the Honeywell TPE331 and the Pratt & Whitney Canada PT6A engines.

Maintenance on these engines is conducted at TAE Aviation's Adelaide Airport facility which is a Honeywell authorised service centre for the TPE331 and is both CASA approved and an FAA approved repair station for both engines. The facility houses the only dynamometer test cell in the Australasian region that can test both of these engines. A large rental pool of TPE331 and PT6A engines, modules and components, a fly-away service and 24 hour technical support means TAE Aviation is equipped to meet most customer requirements.

The majority of part repairs and reclamations, in addition to component maintenance for the Honeywell TPE331 and Pratt & Whitney Canada PT6A, are undertaken within the TAE Group.

Complementing the turbine MRO facility is Masling Industries PT6A component facility that has capability for PT6A fuel, hydraulic and electrical components.

TAE Aviation is also both a CASA approved and an FAA approved turbine fuel nozzle maintenance facility that has capability for the TPE331 and PT6A nozzles as well as the Pratt & Whitney Canada PW100 series engine nozzles.

As the region's preeminent turbine engine MRO provider for defence fast jets and turboprop engines you can be assured that TAE's range of services are the best solution for your business.

The TAE Group offers the broadest range of services in the aviation industry with a strong emphasis on responsive service, on-time delivery, product reliability and outstanding value.
